

Dear all,

Members of the University community are being invited to attend the celebration of the Day of Scientific Renaissance of Africa (DSRA), being organised by the School of Biological Sciences of the College of Basic and Applied Sciences as follows:

There will be an opening ceremony, to be held at the Auditorium of the Centre for Biodiversity Conservation Research (Centre for African Wetlands) after which a Poster Presentation Competition for Graduates, Undergraduates and National Service Personnel of the School of Biological Sciences, will be held at the courtyard of the Department of Plant and Environmental Biology.

Topic: “Non-Communicable Diseases on the Rise: The Role of the Biological Scientists in Curbing the Menace”.

Speaker: Professor Amos Laar, Professor of Public Health Nutrition, School of Public Health, University of Ghana, Legon.

Date: June 14, 2023

Time: 10:00 am

Opening - Auditorium of the Centre for Biodiversity Conservation Research (Centre for African Wetlands) for the Public Lecture

Poster Competition: Courtyard of the Department of Plant and Environmental Biology (11:00 am – 4:00 pm)

Chairperson: Prof Augustine Ocloo, Dean, School of Biological Sciences, University of Ghana, Legon

UNIVERSITY
OF GHANA

SCHOOL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
COLLEGE OF BASIC AND APPLIED SCIENCES

C E L E B R A T E S

Day of Scientific Renaissance of Africa

TOPIC

"NON-COMMUNICABLE DISEASES ON THE INCREASE:
THE ROLE OF THE BIOLOGICAL SCIENTISTS IN CURBING THE MENACE"

by

Professor Amos Laar

PROFESSOR OF PUBLIC HEALTH NUTRITION,
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

CHAIRMAN

Prof Augustine Ocloo
DEAN
SCH. OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

VENUE: Centre for Biodiversity Conservation(Wetlands)

DATE: June 14, 2023

TIME: 10:00 a.m

You are all cordially invited